Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University (Virginia Tech) and the Universidade Estadual de Campinas (UNICAMP) agree to cooperate on international exchange programs based on the principle of reciprocity.

This agreement expresses the interest of both parties in exchanging scholars, students, academic information and materials in the belief that the research and educational processes at both universities would be enhanced and that mutual understanding between their respective scholars and students would be increased by the establishment of such exchange programs.

- Exchange of students (including both undergraduate and graduate students).
- Joint supervision of M.S. and Ph.D. students.

2. The parties recognize that the implementation of any exchange program will depend upon the academic interests and expertise of individual faculty members and upon the availability of financial resources. Accordingly, the implementation of each exchange program based on this agreement shall be separately negotiated and determined by both universities.

3. Such cooperative agreements are not intended to be legally binding documents. They are meant to describe the nature and suggest the guidelines of such cooperation. Nothing, therefore, shall diminish the full autonomy of either institution, nor will any constraints be imposed by either upon the other in carrying out the agreement.

4. This agreement will be in force for five years and is subject to revision or modification by mutual agreement. It is also understood that either institution may terminate the agreement at any time, although it is assumed that such action would only be taken after mutual consultation in order to avoid any possible inconvenience to the other institution.

5. This agreement shall become effective on the day when representatives of both universities affix their signatures and seal the agreement.

6. For Virginia Tech, Dr. Larry D. Mitchell, Randolph Professor of Mechanical Engineering and for UNICAMP, Dr. José Roberto de França Arruda, Associate Professor of the Department of Computational Mechanics, shall serve as liaison officers for this agreement.
